Pittsburgh's North Side Neighborhood

A big city with a small-town feeling comes to life on the North Side neighborly feel of a small community. Great affordable living, area steeped in an extraordinary history - this only begins to describe one of Pittsburgh's great destinations.

Accessible by all major roadways, including I-279, Route 28 and Route 65, and most downtown bridges, the North Side is an easy commut with many parts within walking distance to downtown Pittsburgh.

The charm of the North Side is that each individual neighborhood has a distinctive history. The neighborhoods now know as East Allegheny and Central North Side were once owned by the Six Nations of the Iroquois until 1784, when the land was purchased by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Manchester, in 1787 was part of land that was a section of Reserve Tract, which was granted as
